READY TO WORK

(Mrs. THURMAN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. THURMAN. Mr. Speaker, they have mentioned that there are so many people gone. I just want my constituents to know that I am still here. This is KAREN THURMAN from Florida, and I am ready right now to pass the Everglades bill. We were told last night before we left here that we would, in fact, have the Everglades bill on the floor tonight. I do not know why we have to wait until tomorrow to get this up. It could have been done; it would have been passed. It sounds to me like everybody stayed here because we think it is an important bill to get done. It is a national thing, and we want it done. But I do not know why we are waiting until tomorrow morning and not getting it done tonight.

So to my constituents, I want them to know, I am here, I am ready to work, and I am ready to save the Everglades.

STOP THE FINGERPOINTING

(Mr. STENHOLM asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. STENHOLM. Mr. Speaker, I hope we can put an end to the fingerpointing. It is time for us to close down this part of the session of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Speaker, I want all of those that have been doing the fingerpointing, I want to ask, were there any meetings to work out the differences yesterday? Were there any meetings today? Have there been any meetings between the leadership of the House and the White House since 1:20 last Sunday night? Can anyone from the other side of the aisle tell me of a single invitation to meet and truly negotiate over the remaining items that the administration or Democrats from Congress refused to attend? If they can, take another 1 minute and say so. If not, let us quit the fingerpointing and realize we have to come back after the election and finish the work of this Congress. This is not doing any good, what we have heard tonight, not one bit of good. We are not doing anything. It is ridiculous. We could have voted on the Everglades yesterday. We could vote on it tonight. We do not have to come back tomorrow, but we will be here tomorrow.

SPECIAL ORDERS

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. THORNBERRY). Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 6, 1999, and under a previous order of the House, the following Members will be recognized for 5 minutes each.

HONORING ROXCY O'NEAL BOLTON, SOUTH FLORIDA'S PIONEER FEMINIST

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentlewoman from Florida (Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Ms. ROS-LEHTINEN. Mr. Speaker, tonight I would like to honor Roxcy O'Neal Bolton, a pioneer feminist in my congressional district who has and continues to champion the rights of women by widening the gate to equality.

Born in Mississippi in 1926, Roxcy Bolton has always been a trailblazer. She is a persistent advocate who continues to serve as a powerful voice for women whose needs and pleas had not been heard.

Through her actions, Roxcy has always demonstrated her courage and her deep convictions. She showcased the problems facing women of her time, and continues to encourage women to take action and to extend the fight for equal rights.

In South Florida, Roxcy's fight for equality helped to facilitate change. In the workplace, Roxcy demanded equal respect, equal opportunity, and equal pay for men and women.

For example, in dining clubs, as was the custom of the time, working men had a special dining area. During business day lunch hours men were seated and served quickly, while women, working women with short lunch hours, had to wait in line, looking at empty seats in the men's section.

By writing letters, meeting with restaurant owners, and organizing women, Roxcy Bolton changed this policy, and soon the "men only" policy in South Florida became obsolete.

Roxcy was also a fighter on behalf of abused women. In 1972 she founded Women in Distress, the first women's rescue shelter in Florida to provide emergency housing, rescue services, and care to women who found themselves in situations of personal crisis.

During that time, no one talked about rape, much less did anything about alleviating the horrendous trauma that the victim undergoes. Brave crime victims who actually reported their rapes were often treated callously.

Roxcy, however, was not afraid to speak on behalf of these unfortunate women, and did so publicly, with a march against rape down Flagler street in downtown Miami. Approximately 100 women gathered to march with Roxcy to make the community take notice of their concerns, of their anguish, of their need. It was the first time that South Florida women had taken to the streets, and Roxcy knew that if women banded together, we were going to make a difference.

Shortly thereafter, Roxcy approached every local official and persued them that something had to be done about treating rape as the violent crime that it is. In 1972, her efforts resulted in the first rape treatment center in the country, located in my regional congressional district at Jackson Memorial Hospital in Miami. In 1993, this rape treatment center was correctly named after Roxcy Bolton.

Roxcy also organized Florida's first crime watch meeting to help curb crime against women. She has served on many boards and commissions, working for women's rights, and has been the recipient of numerous civic awards related to her work with women's rights. In 1992, she helped form the Women's Park, the first park in the United States dedicated to all women who have made contributions to our community.

To this day, Roxcy continues to be a champion for humankind. We cannot keep her down. She continues to persevere and to recognize women's role in history. She continues to fight for women's rights, human rights, social welfare issues, and to put an end to the sexual discrimination in employment and in education.

Mr. Speaker, I am proud to have Roxcy O'Neal Bolton in my congressional district, and I wish her many more successful years in the ongoing struggle for women's issues. I ask my colleagues to join me in saluting this Florida heroine for her remarkable dedication to women, and for making South Florida a better place in which to live.

We are a richer community for having hard-charging feminists like Roxcy O'Neal Bolton in our midst.

GOVERNOR GEORGE W. BUSH'S FALSE STATEMENTS ABOUT HIS TAX PLAN

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under a previous order of the House, the gentleman from California (Mr. SHERMAN) is recognized for 5 minutes.

Mr. SHERMAN. Mr. Speaker, we should not pretend that we are working here toward a final solution. We all know we are coming back after the election. The people who know this best are the Republican Senate leadership. They have all gone home, so why are we pretending we are going to cut a deal without the Senate leadership?

This country needs an election so that the people can tell us that we need more Federal investment in education, that we need a prescription drug benefit that is part of Medicare, and that we need an increase in the minimum wage.

I trust next Tuesday that message will be heard here in Washington loud and clear.

Mr. Speaker, one thing that could prevent us from hearing that message is a misconstruction of the Governor of Texas' tax plan, because there are two false statements that have been made by the Governor about his own plan. I trust that he has not made these statements deliberately, but simply because
